

I have very much enjoyed Indiana's "Do Not Call" list. I have been on this list for almost a year. My husband is a Police Officer who works the afternoon shift and the only "alone" time during the day that we get is when he is on his dinner break. For the past 11 months we have not been bothered by the phone ringing to interrupt our dinner. We could always go out to dinner, but that does get expensive. I surely hope that the FCC realizes that the peace and quite of family life is important to many Americans, especially in light of the recent problems with our Country and those trying to instill fear.
